YOU will be responsible for your temperature control and are required to transport ingredients in a cool container. Advance Preparation of ingredients is permitted and encouraged. The competition will commence at 15:00 but you are requested to arrive at the venue at 14:00. WE will assist you to transport your goods to your table and set up your station.

Each contestant is encouraged to decorate your station and display your logo /pop up and promotional material for your business. This is a free advertising opportunity for YOU

Format of Contest:

There will be a maximum of ten entrants. YOU will have one hour to prepare and present. YOU are encouraged to have an assistant. While you are preparing your chowder Master Chef Paula McIntyre will do a demonstration for the assembled audience.

Prize:

The winning Chowder Chef will be sponsored by Destination Ballycastle to participate in the All Ireland Chowder Competition in Kinsale, Co Cork on April 23 2017. The prize includes overnight accommodation and dinner for two people and voucher for your travelling expenses. You will represent Ulster.

All Contestants will be presented with a Memento of the Event.

Winners will be judged and announced on the day.
